The Environment in Hong Kong

This letter is a formal letter to the Secretary of the Environment, Wong Kam-sing. In the letter, students give the suggestions on what they think the Hong Kong Government could do to improve the environment.

By 5C Hailey Tse

Dear Mr. Wong,

I think you could help the environment by walking home, growing plants, and consuming less electricity. A second thing you could do is to do activities that can reduce water pollution, noise pollution, air pollution and light pollution which are caused by factories.

Yours sincerely,
Hailey Tse

Waste problem in Hong Kong

This letter is a formal letter of suggestion to the Hong Kong Government, specifically written to Carrie Lam, the Chief Executive of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, regarding improving the waste problem in Hong Kong.

By 5A Loky Ma

Dear Ms. Lam,

I am writing to you about the waste problem in Hong Kong. I have several suggestions. First, I think we need to throw away the rubbish into the rubbish bin. Second, if people throw away the rubbish on the ground instead of into the rubbish bin, they should pay $10,000 HK dollars. Third, I think people should never eat or drink on public transportation. Finally, we need to finish all the food on the plate.

Thank you for reading my letter.

Waste problem in Hong Kong

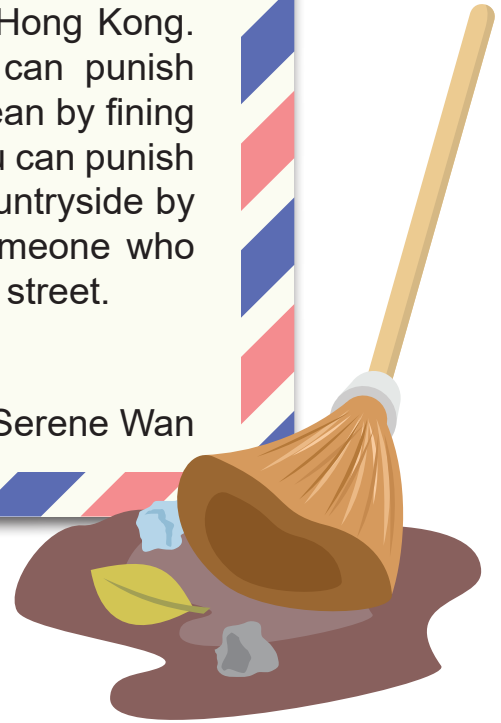

By 5C Serene Wan

Dear Ms. Lam,

I am writing to you about the waste problem in Hong Kong. I have several suggestions. First, I think you can punish someone who throws away the rubbish in the ocean by fining them $1000 and sending them to jail. Second, you can punish someone who throws away the rubbish in the countryside by sending them to jail. Finally, you can punish someone who throws away the rubbish in the street to clean the street.

Thank you for reading my letter.

Dear Ms. Lam,

I am writing to you about the waste problem in Hong Kong. I have several suggestions. First, I think people who throw away the rubbish on the ground need to pay $2000 HK dollars. Second, I think we need to throw away the rubbish into the rubbish bin. Third, we should never eat or drink on MTR trains or in MTR stations. Finally, we need to finish all the food we have ordered or we have been given.

Thank you for reading my letter.

The Story of the Water Cycle

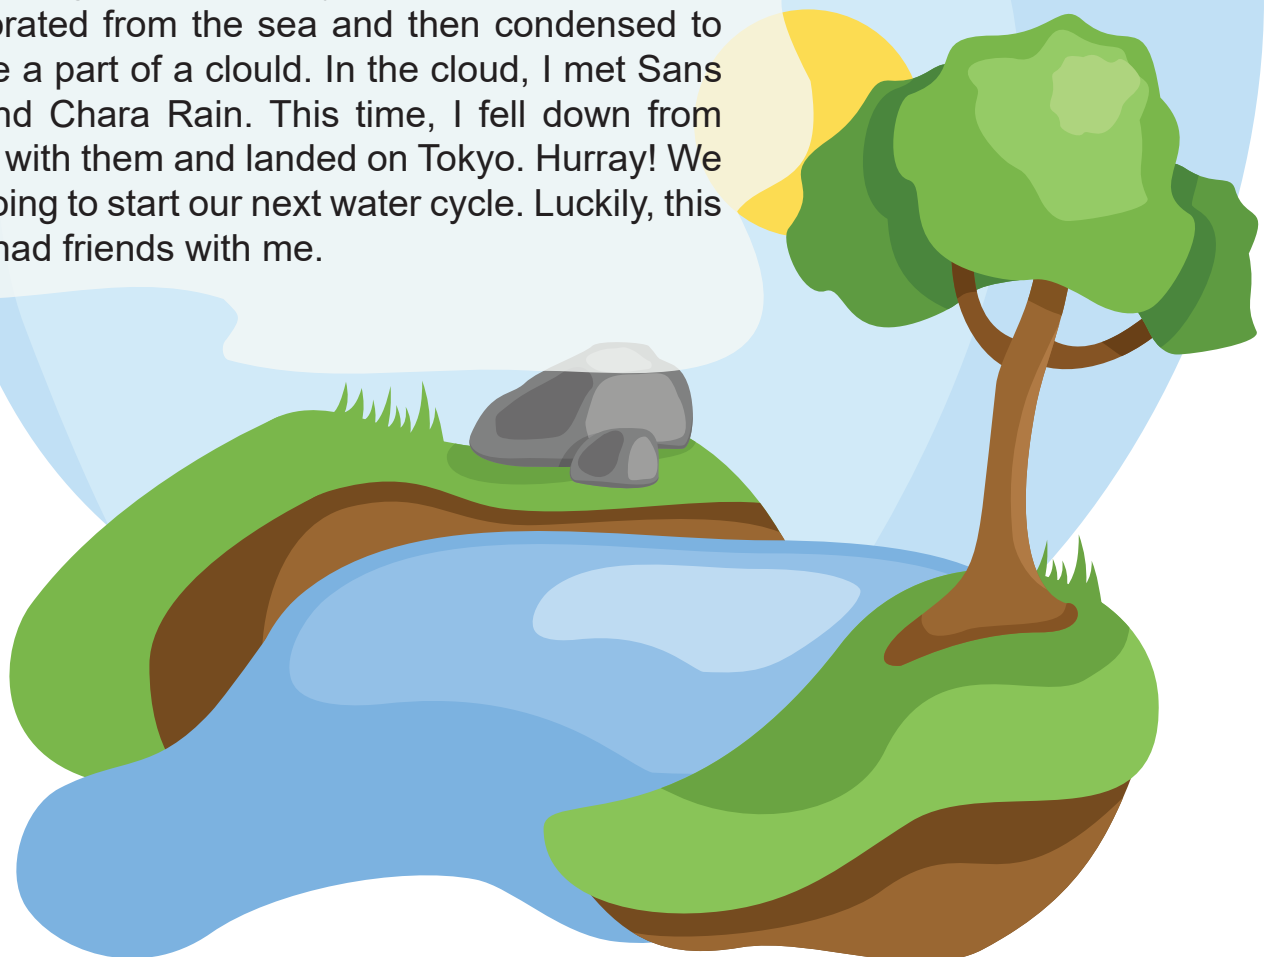

This is a writing task in which students need to use their own words to write a story about the main processes of the water cycle. By creating the main character "Water Drop", students are talking the story in 1st person, as if they were the Water Drop.

By 5B Sophia Chu

My name was Cuty Drop. I was a little princess from Drop Kingdom where was under a river. One day, I left the river with sadness and evaporated from Drop Kingdom to the sky. Surprisingly, I went to a cloud and I saw my mother, the queen of Drop Kingdom, and my father, the king of Drop Kingdom there. We felt happy because we met again in a cloud. After sometime, we dropped down from the sky and into a river where Rain Country was under it. We were new comers in Rain Country. We lived there happily.

My name was Goku Rain. This was my 100th time to go through the water cycle in this world. First, I evaporated from the sea and then condensed to become a part of a cloud. In the cloud, I met Sans Rain and Chara Rain. This time, I fell down from the sky with them and landed on Tokyo. Hurray! We were going to start our next water cycle. Luckily, this time, I had friends with me.

The Life Of A Paper Bag

Imagining themselves as paper bags, students are required to keep a journal diary in which all of the uses as a paper bag are illustrated.

Dear Diary,

OMG! I became a paper box. I was bought by a teacher and she put many things in me. They were heavy that I got a stomach ache! The teacher threw me into a recycling bin finally. I wonder what I will be next!

1st December, 2019

Dear Diary,

I became a banknote this time and everyone needed me. I met different people every day. One day, someone treated me rudely that I was broken! He sent me to a bank and I was put into a recycling bin. I wonder what I will be next!

I was a student handbook. The kid was kind to me. I was happy!

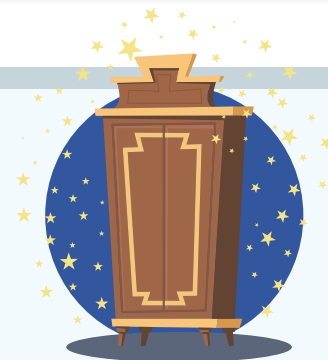

The Best Inventions Ever

Imagining themselves as scientists, students are to create a new invention to revolutionize the world and raised enough money needed to make it come to life. To launch the product to the world, students are going to create an instruction manual to explain what the invention does/how it is used.
